

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to recommend Tim Jackreece. He has worked with the Amida team as a software developer where he was a member of the product team that I had the privilege of overseeing as part of my duties as the CTO and head of product development.

Over the year that Tim has worked with us, he proved himself to be a diligent and positive influence on the team. In my experience this positive attitude and consistent desire to improve raises the mood and attitude of the team and is something to encourage and cherish. This is something Tim brought to the table. Positive influence is not all that Tim did in his time at Amida however. He is a valuable member of the Saraswati team and has worked extensively on the front end in React, taking ownership of the charting component of the dashboard as well as contributing to the Node.js backend.

Tim is a delight to work with and I wouldn't hesitate to hire him again. The reason for his departure is due to the decision by leadership to discontinue development of the product he was a team member on. This is not a reflection of his outstanding work but about the realities of new products in the healthcare industry.

Should you have any further questions about Tim, feel free to reach me at 301-728-9200 or via email at mike@amida.com.
